

Spring Registration Begins At LSU-S

Thomas Announces

Registration Dates

Registration for the spring semester at LSU-Shreveport has been set for February 1, 2, and 3, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Fabia Thomas, registrar. Registration will be held on the first floor of the Science Building on the LSU-S campus.

Continuing students, those who have completed a successful semester at LSU-S, do not need to renew applications for admission. A new student must file application for admission and must have a copy of his high school transcript on file here. If a new student has attended another college, he needs a copy of his college transcript from each college he has attended.

Mrs. Thomas pointed out that if college transcripts are not available at registration time, a student can be given provisional registration if he can present evidence of meeting admission requirements. Then he has thirty days to meet all requirements. If they are not fulfilled by that time, the provisional admission is canceled.

According to Mrs. Thomas, about 225 applications from prospective students have been received and they continue to come in at the rate of 12 to 15 a day.

ORIENTATION

Orientation for all new students will be held at 8:00 a.m. on January 31 in the Science Lecture Auditorium.

The registration procedure for continuing students will be similar to the procedure followed in September. Each student will pick up, from the registrar's office, a packet and a ledger, which is a copy of his permanent record. Then he will proceed to his advisor for the selection of courses. Next class cards are obtained, packets are completed and fees are paid. No student is considered registered until fees are paid. ID cards will be validated after the payment of fees, and each student should have his card with him.

The schedule for registration is set to begin on February 1 at 8:00 a.m. with students whose names begin with TR through names beginning with Z. These students were last in September and will have the opportunity to be first to register for the spring semester. The other groups will simply move forward an hour. At 9:00 students whose names begin with AA, for example, Aaron, will register. At 10:00, BA; at 11:00, CAT; 1:00, DAW; and at 2:00 p.m. those students whose names begin with GA will register.

On Friday, February 2, at 8:00, HAS; 9:00, KA; 10:00, MAS; 11:00, OA; 1:00 RI; and 2:00, SL. Each day's registration should be completed by 5:00 p.m.

On Saturday, February 3, late students will be allowed to register.

BOOKSTORE

The bookstore, located in the building with the snack bar, will be open on the first day of registration. Students may purchase books anytime after they know what books will be needed. However, books cannot be exchanged if a student should drop one course and add another, after he has purchased his books. Mr. A. J. Howell, business manager, urges students not to purchase books until their schedules are final.

Mr. Howell also announced that a limited number of used books in good condition will be purchased from students completing fall courses. These used books as well as new books will be for sale and there should be an adequate supply of books for each student in every course.

GRADES

The registrar also announced that final grade reports are to be mailed on Tuesday, January 30, to each student's home address. The grade reports will show the name of the course, the grade given, the credit earned, and the scholastic status.

At the end of the fall semester, if a student has earned less than a 1.0 average on hours attempted during the fall, his grade report will show that he has been dropped for one semester. If he has a 1.5 average, he is placed on scholastic probation. A student on scholastic probation remains so until

Forty-five Register For Graduate Program

Registration for the Louisiana State University Graduate School programs in business administration and education was held January 15 in the Science Lecture Auditorium at LSU-S.

In addition to the education and business administration courses, students who are in good academic standing with LSU or Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and who have been admitted to graduate school were allowed to register for engineering courses to be offered by the two schools jointly. Approximately 45 students registered for the courses.

Admission to graduate study in education was opened only to those students having completed

LSU-S Library Receives Volumes Of War Records

The most recent collection to be added to the LSU-S library are 222 volumes of the Official Records of the Civil War entitled "War of Rebellion."

Lacking some twenty volumes, the collection provides the official records of the Union and Confederate fighting forces. The books were donated anonymously and have been in the possession of Mr. Malcolm Parker, head librarian at LSU-S, since 1965.

Malcolm Parker, head librarian at LSU-S, removes from the shelf two volumes of the Civil War Records that will soon be available for student use. The books and money for rebinding them were donated anonymously.

No, Almagester, you can't be first. You didn't spell your name Tralmagester with a silent TR in September.

Read! It's Good For You

Communicating information is my business and a university library is a good place to practice it. The past semester marks for the library staff and its patrons the solid beginning of a good college library. Well-housed, well-equipped and growing in the amount of good books, periodicals and other library material, the library should be of increasing use to the students and faculty.

With the new year many new subscriptions will be added to the collection bringing the list to a total of nearly 1000 subscriptions. Shortly, we shall have 10,000 volumes--mostly new. Federal publications, particularly periodicals and annual reports will be available in the coming months. Ten daily newspapers are to be found in the browsing room. A clipping file is in preparation. Many other endeavors are underway.

Needless to say the quality or the amount of such library material is to no avail unless used. It is the unfortunate characteristic of many college "educated" people to do a minimal amount of reading. Breadth as well as depth is the mark of a cultivated man.

College students should pursue their chief interests by skilled use of library materials. Then they would be more contented persons and possibly more useful members of society. It's up to each individual to decide at this crucial point what he will contribute to the community of man. --William McCleary, Reference Librarian.

Where Does Peace Begin?

by Allen Carlisle

When the masses create war and demonstrate an almost unfathomable instinct of man's most archaic drive to kill and destroy, suddenly there are backlashes from those who covet peace.

Since 1914, man has been engaged in a series of slaughters; man has perpetuated in diverse places a ravaging onslaught of violence in the first degree. Blood flows freely in our world of so-called civilized people.

The rise of crime in the greater countries has risen to a shameful degree and modern novels and movies display crime in ardent splendor. People have repressed their basic nature of sadism, flock to the theater to lose themselves in a world of neurotic psychos who drench themselves in their victims' blood.

James Bond is a fictional super spy who can kill before you can say 007. One leaves his movies with a feeling of exuberance, as one might feel upon being satisfied by a good meal. James Bond is a idol of many American boys. Everyone loves him and envies his ability to mutilate and murder the bad guy without batting an eyelash.

When your stomach is filled with enough pain and misery of others and you wonder about the value of it all, you might also ask yourself, "Where does peace begin?" People cry for peace and many die for peace, and this is good and well, but where does peace begin?

Some say peace begins with communism, and others say peace is impossible until the world becomes literate and educated.

All the recipes for peace are vain unless there is a rudimentary ingredient. Flower power and John Birch philosophies may be keys to world peace, but they seem to lack one important ingredient for peace. Peace, fellow humans, begins with you and me.

Before man will ever see peace, it must be a common goal in each individual. Each person is going to have to look at himself deeply and realize that peace of mind is the first step to peace on Earth.

If your avocation and preoccupation deal with sadistic endeavors and you are obsessed with power, and you hypnotize yourself into believing that you should rule the world even if it means mass murder of people, there is no hope for you because there was no hope for Hitler.

Plays, Films, Exhibits, Music; Shreveport Offers Wide Variety

by Russell Knighton

If you haven't made out your list of things to do during Spring Semester (besides study), the following may be of interest. Among the many events available to area students are the "distinguished films" presented by the Shreveport Film Society at Marjorie Lyons Playhouse.

Their next presentation will be THE BRIDGE, a German film showing the tragic results when seven teenage boys are assigned to guard a small bridge. Director Bernhard Wicki points out that the "powerful Third Reich, like all structures based on fear and ignorance of man, did not extend to all places at all times and did not cover simple human instincts." Thus, the film ends "with deliberate and systematic irony". This film will be shown Sunday, February 4, at 7:15 p.m.

In March, a Mexican film entitled THE YOUNG AND THE DAMNED will be shown. Later in March, a Russian film, BAL-LAD OF A SOLDIER, will be presented.

In April and May, an American film, DAVID AND LISA, and a Czech film, SHOP ON MAIN STREET will be presented respectively.

Mrs. Marilyn Coil, English instructor at LSU-S, recommends the films as something out of the ordinary, sometimes gruesome.

Marjorie Lyons

"Much Ado About Nothing" will be the next production at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. The Centenary drama students, or Jongleurs, will make up the 21-member cast. Among those are David Kingsley, Don McClintock, John Winters, David Adams, Don Pedro, John Etheridge, Gary Johnson, and Stephen Murry.

This Shakespearian play will be directed by Dr. Robert Mohr, drama professor at the University of Cape Town, South Africa. The guest director also directed the South African premier of "Behind the Yellow Door" in '66 at Marjorie Lyons.

Presentation of the play will be February 14-17 and 19-24. Special group rates may be obtained for the night of January 17 from Mrs. Coil in 216 of the Library beginning February 12-14. The cost will depend on the number of persons that go. From 25-50 students is $1.50; 50-100 is $1.25; over 100 is $1.00. Individual admission is $2.00.

Following the latter production the Jongleurs will present Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot" March 18-23, and Edward Albee's "The Ballad of the Sad Cafe" April 29-May 4. Also "A Variety of One-Act Plays" will be presented by the Centenary senior directors May 17-17.

Little Theater

Little Theater's up-coming attraction will be Murray Schigel's "Luv." It incorporates 3 characters, Milt and Evelyn Manville and a friend, Harry. The entire play takes place on an ordinary bridge with a sand box on it.

The play, directed by John Wray Young, is a spoof exploring the area of absurd drama.

Miss Jill Young, English instructor at LSU-S, will be cast in one of the few plays that she appears in directed by her father and designed by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Young.

Performances begin February 15-17 and 21-24 at 8:15 p.m. Admission is $3.00 a person.

PORT PLAYERS

Next on the schedule of Port Players' productions will be "Laura." The play adapted by George Sklar hinges on the question of "Who killed Laura Hunt?"

This subtle psychological chiller deals with a detective who, while investigating the young woman's murder, finds himself strongly haunted by a portrait of the dead girl and becomes deeply entangled in her past life and the lives of those who knew her.

Director of the play will be John Palmquist, treasurer of Port Players.

The production will be on February 28-29 and on March 1-2 in the playhouse at 840 Jordan Street.

Civic Theater

Among the coming attractions of Variety Attractions at the Shreveport Civic Theater are the duo pianists, Ferrante and Teicher, January 27 and, two weeks later, "Stop The World - I Want to Get Off," starring Jackie Warner. Both performances are at 8:15 p.m.

To end the season will be S. Horok's Royal Winnipeg Ballet, Sunday, March 10, at 2:30 p.m.

Admissions are from $5.50 to $3.50; also, there is a 10% discount for eligible groups.

Wildlife Films

Last, but not least, are the Audubon Wildlife Films presented by the Shreveport Society for Nature Study and the National Audubon Society at the Louisiana State Exhibit Museum on Greenwood Road.

Their next presentation by nature photographer, Fran William Hall of Minnesota, will be "The Real Yellowstone." It will provide an opportunity to visit Yellowstone National Park where one can observe the trumpeter swan, once threatened with extinction; and elk, moose, coyote, feeding and fighting in their natural habitats. Parts of the park seldom seen by tourists will be explored. It will be shown March 1 at 8:00 p.m.

On Sunday, April 7, at 3 p.m., Olin Sewall Pettingill, Jr. will present his documentary, "New Zealand Spring." This film story will feature the strange, wingless kiwi, wrybill plovers, bellbirds and tuis, royal albatrosses, black swans, and many other seldom seen local species.

Admission for the films is $.75 per person.

The English department consisting of Mrs. Nancy Sexton, Dr. Carole Tabor, Dr. William Gray, departmental head; Mrs. Marilyn Coil, Miss Jill Young, Mrs. Evelyn Herring, and Dr. Moriece Gleason meet to discuss conformity in theme grading. Not shown is David Lawson.

Faculty Facts:

The English Department

Heading the English Department as acting chairman is Dr. William S. Gray. Dr. Gray obtained his BA from Centenary, his MA from Louisiana State University, and his PhD from the University of Exeter in England. The English Professor's teaching career has taken him from Switzerland and London, to Michigan and Minnesota, where he was Chairman of the Department of English at Augsburg College in Minneapolis. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Sigma Tau Delta Honorary English Society, the Modern Language Association, and the American Association of University Professors. Leading Dr. Gray's interests are "reading and writing."

Overshadowing Dr. Moriece Gleason's teaching days are sixteen years spent in the U. S. Navy. These years were filled travelling and flying "several times very low over an actively erupting volcano, taking pictures of the smoke, fire, and lava (with the plane bucking and pitching like a bucking horse)." Dr. Gleason received her AB from Northwestern State College, her MA and PhD from Louisiana State University. For several years, she taught in Bossier Parish High Schools, and at the main campus in Baton Rouge. Dr. Gleason is active in the U. S. Naval Reserve, the Aviation and Space Writers Association, Delta Kappa Gamma, and the South Central Division of the Modern Language Association. Special among her interests is John Milton.

Dr. Gleason acknowledges a responsibility to LSU-S. She states, "It is our duty to lay the foundation for a school tradition that will emphasize pursuit of learning, conscientious endeavor, and right living."

Dr. Carole Tabor acquired her BA from La. Tech. She completed her MA and PhD degrees from Texas Christian University. Included in her teaching experience are Texas Christian University, Northeast Louisiana State, and North Texas State University. Dr. Tabor is a member of the Modern Language Association of University Professors, the American Association of University Women, Phi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Tau Delta. She enjoys tennis and travel. This summer, Dr. Tabor plans a return trip to Europe, that is "if the U. S. economy and hers can stand it."

Another member of the English Department is Mrs. Marilyn G. Coil. In addition to La. Tech where she received her BA and MA degrees, she has studied at the University of Arkansas, and the University of London. For ten years, Mrs. Coil has been on the faculty of Caddo Parish High Schools. Her "extracurricular" activities are the English Speaking Union, the National Travel Club, plays, operas, travel, art history, and slide photography. "LSU-S," Mrs. Coil states, "has far surpassed expectations."

Mrs. Evelyn Herring's academic background includes Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches, Texas, where she took her BA and MA degrees. Texas high schools, Henderson County Junior College in Athens, Texas, and the University of Houston, have been the sites of her teaching. Mrs. Herring finds time for the Louisiana Teachers Association, the National Education Association, and Beta Sigma Phi. Numbering among her other interests are Robert Browning's poetry, bowling, and "attempting" sewing. At LSU-S, Mrs. Herring finds "a good spirit of cooperation."

Another LSU-S English Instructor is Mr. David E. Lawson. Mr. Lawson attended Northwestern State College, from which he obtained his BA degree, and Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, for his MA. He has done additional graduate work at Northwestern. Mr. Lawson is a member of the National Education Association, and for relaxation, he participates in golf and photography.

Mrs. Nancy Sexton is a graduate of the College of William and Mary, in Williamsburg, Virginia, where she received her BA degree. She chose the University of Texas in Austin to obtain her MA degree. In Shreveport, she has taught at Centenary

Absentee Balloting

A reminder is extended to Louisiana's college students of voting age to take advantage of their first opportunity to vote by absentee balloting.

Legislation of Act 378 now allows absentee balloting by college students. The parents and friends of servicemen and college students should write to these voters and remind them to cast their vote. They can obtain an absentee ballot by going to the parish courthouse in person or by writing to the Clerk of Court in their home parish.

Military personnel and students may apply now for an absentee ballot; persons who will be out of town on election day may apply starting January 18. The absentee voting applications will be given out until January 30. The ballot must be received by the Clerk of Court by February 6, 1968.

Persons who will be out of town on election day may vote absentee by going to the Courthouse and applying in person between January 18 and January 30.

Until this legislation was passed, it was estimated that some 20,000 voters had been disenfranchised from exercising their right to vote.

College and at Woodlawn High School. For recreation, Mrs. Sexton enjoys golf, swimming, and shares a common interest among English teachers - reading.

Completing the review of English teachers is Miss Jill Young. Miss Young graduated from Louisiana State University with her BA degree. She received the Master of Fine Arts degree for playwriting at the Catholic University of America in Washington. She has gained teaching experience from the District of Columbia Public School System, the Metairie Park County Day School and Tulane University. Since her return to Shreveport, Miss Young has worked with the Shreveport Symphony Society, and the Shreveport Little Theatre. Currently, Miss Young is designing the production of "Brecht an Brecht" and acting in the spring production of "Luv." Miss Young relaxes by swimming, sailing, and joining in chess games.

Student Personalities:

"Where Higher Education Was A Necessity--"

The student personalities for this issue are interesting people to know. They are Annette Atkinson and James Stokes, who share with countless others the realization of the importance of college. Both were away from school for a time and were later drawn back to the "castles of knowledge."

Annette is a 1964 graduate of Logansport High School in Logansport. After her graduation she attended Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches, Texas. Deciding at that time that college was not for her, she withdrew and attended Shreveport Draughton Business School. Annette says, "After attending college and business school and after working for two years at Long Leaf Lumber, Inc., I've come to appreciate the value of an education." She further adds, "It is the only way to survive in this world."

By carefully budgeting her time, Annette's agenda has time work, family, and studies. For relaxation she enjoys horses, riding, skiing, and bowling. Annette acknowledges one of the oft repeated but no less true advantages of college when she states, "An education is something that can never be taken away from you." Here at LSU-S Annette is an advertising major.

The education magnet also drew James Stokes back for further study. Presently, pre-law is his major. James has worked as a machinist at Ellis Piston Ring Sales and has attended Shreveport Trade School. There he specialized in body and fender work.

For James, the army served a dual purpose: a maturing process and a source of travel. His itinerary included Hong Kong, Tokyo, and Vietnam. In Vietnam he traveled extensively and served for 16 months. While James was in the Army he realized that college was essential to any further success.

"This," he believes, "coupled with the influence of my family and a close friend, led me to enroll."

Aside from working, studying, and attending LSU-S, James enjoys motorcycling. He is an avid drag racing fan. To slow down, he reads Hemingway, Maugham, and Ruark. As for advice concerning success in school, James offers, "Keep up and have a good attitude."

Stay in college might be a good ending note. If you leave you may just turn down the road and walk back like the prodigal son.

Humphreys, Heart Chairman

It was announced recently by Mrs. Ethel Butler, president of the Pilot Club, that Mr. Hubert Humphreys, instructor of history here at LSU-S, had accepted the Chairmanship of The Town House Heart Sunday Committee. Heart Sunday which falls on February 25 this year is sponsored annually by the Pilot Club of Shreveport in cooperation with the Louisiana Heart Association campaign. Mr. Humphreys will coordinate the drive of the Heart Fund for the immediate downtown area.

an undergraduate teacher-education program and to those who are fully licensed to teach.

Further information about the MBA program can be obtained from Dr. Herbert G. Hicks, College of Business Administration, LSU, Baton Rouge, 70803.

The Shreveport graduate program is administered by the LSU General Extension Division and coordinated by Dr. Vincent J. Marsala of LSU-S.

Waiting for their English instructor, James Stokes smiles as Annette Atkinson discusses her theme.

BSU Plans For Trip

BSU members are now making plans to attend the 19th Annual College Students Missionary, March 8-10 at Southwestern Baptist Church in Fort Worth, Texas.

The theme will be developed by speakers James Flemming, pastor of First Baptist Church in Abilene, Texas; Leroy Benfield, missionary to the Philippines; Nathan Porter, associate of Home Mission Board; Hal Boone, missionary to East Africa. Students from all over the South are expected to attend.

Dr. Finley Edge, Professor of religious education at South Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky, was the guest speaker at the January 17 meeting of the LSU-S BSU organization. His topic was "The Vitality of Christian Faith."

Future speakers will be Judge Gorman Taylor of the juvenile court division speaking on "Drug Addiction"; he will also present interesting statistics on the subject. Another will be Reverend Bob Garcia, pastor of Linwood Baptist Church, speaking on "Jesus and the Hippy."

Meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month in Science 118 at 12:05 p.m. BSU sponsor for LSU-S and Centenary College is Reverend Robert Childress.

GSO Instigates Three Projects

Gamma Sigma Omega, at its last meeting of the fall semester, made plans to obtain a clock for the Snack Bar and to establish a babysitting service for the LSU-S faculty. The idea of GSO girls tutoring one another was also discussed at the January 12 meeting in Science 228.

Among the Gamma's most recent projects is the chocolate stand located on the second floor of the Library near the elevator. There fresh donuts may be purchased for five cents each and hot chocolate for ten cents a cup from 8:00 until 12:00 on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Now in its third week of operation, the stand, operated by Gamma girls, will resume when the second semester classes begin.

Membership in the organiza-

The newly elected Home Economics-Agriculture Club officers are Donnie Young, president; Herbie Jeane, vice-president; Lynda Davis, secretary; Robert Gill, treasurer; and Anne Davis, parliamentarian.

Alpha Eta Epsilon Elects Officers

The members of the agriculture and home economics classes have organized a club for the two groups, selected a name for the club, and elected officers.

Alpha Eta Epsilon was the name chosen. Officers are Donald Young, president; Herbert Jeane, vice president; Lynda Davis, secretary; Robert Gill, treasurer; and Anne Davis, parliamentarian.

The objectives of the club are to improve social conditions for the members, to promote agriculture, to develop leadership, to work for obtaining grants and scholarships for qualified students, and to promote LSU-Shreveport.

tion is offered to any girl who is a second semester freshman or better. She must have and maintain a 2.0 average for membership. Applications for membership must be turned in by February 9 to the Registrar's office.

Additional information concerning projects and meetings will be posted on the bulletin boards. At present, the meetings are planned to resume February 16.

Circle K Named Top In District

What is happiness? Happiness is being chosen the top Circle K Club in your district. That's right, the Circle K of LSU-S has been selected as the number one Circle K organization in the Lamiston district, which includes Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee. The selection was made on the basis of club activities, service projects, administrative abilities and other areas.

The decal and license plate sale is going very well, according to Dr. Bobby Dowden, faculty sponsor. He reports that over two-thirds of the supplies have been sold. The sale will last until the present supply is exhausted. License plates are sold for $1.25 and decals are .30 and .75.

Nine members of the club were selected to attend the Midwinter Workshop held in Jackson, Mississippi. They are Lee Payne, Ken Irvin, John Anderson, Cliff Wilcox, Barney Barnwell, Jeff Hewitt, Larry Johnson, Billy Grounds, and John Livingston.

According to Dr. Dowden, there will be a candidacy period at the beginning of the second semester. There are seven places to be filled on the club roster. Anyone interested may contact Dr. Dowden or Lee Payne.

The Circle K members are not ones to rest on their past achievements, according to Lee Payne, president. Already they are working on a number of projects. There will soon be a magazine drive for soldiers in Viet Nam and a service project to help the crippled children of the Shreveport area. Circle K members are helping the teachers during the final examination period and are planning to help during the spring registration.

Biology Club Adopts Name

Members of the Biology Club, adopting the Greek name Lambda Sigma Upsilon, heard guest speakers and voted to donate a rubber tree plant to LSU-S at the January 17 meeting.

Guest speakers for that meeting were Mr. Roy Akin, a Methodist minister, and Mr. E. P. Akin, owner of Akin's nursery. Their subject was rock formations and rock polishing. After the men had spoken, they encouraged the students to examine the fossils and polished stones owned by the collectors.

Akin's Nursery will donate the rubber tree plant and the redwood bucket. The club members will see that the plant is placed in the most appropriate spot and will care for it properly.

The Lambda Sigma Upsilon, sponsored by Mrs. Dorothy Hubble, meets on the 1st and 3rd Wednesdays of each month in Room 118 of the Science Building.

SELECTIVE SERVICE

Male students who were full-time in the fall and remain full-time will have their selective service status unchanged, and it will not be necessary to notify the draft board. Former full-time students who do not register for the spring semester or who become part-time students will have the status changed and the draft board will be notified.

War Records

Just recently an anonymous local businessman donated $1,500 to the LSU Foundation to have the volumes rebound.

The books were sent to Illinois on January 15 for rebinding. They will be available in about six weeks for student use on a non-circulating basis.

Because the books were printed in 1889 by subscription only and never placed on the market, they are scarce but not rare, according to Mr. Parker.
